WORLD EXCLUSIVE

WHITNEY HOUSTON
AUTOPSY SHOCKER!

What REALLY killed her PREGNANCY bombshell Chilling proof she was MURDERED

WHITNEY HOUSTON's autopsy will reveal explosive secrets about the star including proof she was murdered – and a blockbuster pregnancy shocker, according to sources.

In a world exclusive, GLOBE can now reveal that the 48-year-old songbird, found dead in the bathtub in her Beverly Hilton hotel room on Feb. 11, was hiding a baby secret.

“Several people in Whitney’s entourage believe she was pregnant when she died,” an insider tells GLOBE. “Whitney herself thought she might be expecting, although she said it would be ‘a miracle!’

“She was 48 and felt her chances of becoming a mom again were slim. But having another baby was her dream.”

In the U.S. in 2010, 7,744 women between ages 45 and 54, gave birth.

The insider notes that Whitney always wanted daughter Bobbi Kristina, who turns 19 on March 4, to have a sibling and the singer had suffered three shattering miscarriages while married to Bobby Brown.

She also became determined to have another child after Bobby and Partying Whitney leaving the nightclub Tru Hollywood on Feb. 9, two days before her death. Below, her temporary death certificate his manager galpal Alicia Etheredge, 38, had a baby about three years ago, the source adds.

“Whitney was jealous when Bobby had a kid with his girlfriend,” says the insider. “She desperately wanted that for herself, too.”

The source also reports the pop diva had recently been suffering from mood swings, had thrown up a couple of times, which could be morning sickness, and had visited doctors in Beverly Hills three times in eight days.

The star even looked pregnant, sporting what appeared to be a baby bump in her tight black dress while leaving a nightclub with her sister-in-law Patricia.

“If Whitney was just fat, her arms, legs and face would have gained weight as well,” says another source.
